We define leadership. The School of Management and Information Technology (SMIT) is home to future business leaders fluent in the language of new technologies.
Leaders are captains. Construct and implement organization-specific IT systems to streamline business operations and boost productivity.

Leaders are global. Keep an eye on up-and-coming products while tracking trends and movements in the global economy.

Leaders are agile. Acquire an in-depth understanding of how information and technology-enabled business processes increase the overall performance and responsiveness of organizations.

Leaders are adventurous. Build your portfolio of games ranging from small interactive applications to complex PC and console gaming systems.

Leaders are finishers. Leaders are champions. Cultivate a visionary instinct and aptitude for transforming human resource as a crucial component of the strategic development and success of companies.

Leaders are visionary. Nurture dreams and harness a plan to acquire, develop, and market properties for economic development, competitiveness, and iconic pride of the country.

Leaders are finishers. Business Management* Train in different aspects of business including operations, marketing, finance, and strategic management.

Leaders are finishers. Marketing Management* Learn to read the mind of the market, predict its tendencies, and influence its impulses.

Computer Applications

Construct and implement organization-specific IT systems to streamline business operations and boost productivity.

Information Systems

Leaders are agile. Acquire an in-depth understanding of how information and technology-enabled business processes increase the overall performance and responsiveness of organizations.

Interactive Entertainment and Multimedia Computing

Leaders are adventurous. Build your portfolio of games ranging from small interactive applications to complex PC and console gaming systems.

Export Management

Leaders are global. Keep an eye on up-and-coming products while tracking trends and movements in the global economy.

Real Estate Management

Leaders are visionary. Nurture dreams and harness a plan to acquire, develop, and market properties for economic development, competitiveness, and iconic pride of the country.

Career Development Program

Leaders are finishers. Business Management* Train in different aspects of business including operations, marketing, finance, and strategic management.

Marketing Management*

Learn to read the mind of the market, predict its tendencies, and influence its impulses.

*Business Management and Marketing Management degree programs are offered only to working students.

Human Resource Management

Leaders are champions. Cultivate a visionary instinct and aptitude for transforming human resource as a crucial component of the strategic development and success of companies.