In choosing Benilde, you must rethink your criteria.
FIND A DIFFERENT ANGLE
Your uniqueness reflects our way of teaching.

Benilde believes that each student is endowed by the Creator with talents and gifts, which the College nurtures in accordance with the individual's learning style.
The College continues the mission started by St. John Baptist de La Salle and St. Benilde Romançon by making innovative education accessible to the poor and to diversely-gifted learners.
In his time, St. La Salle created a community of Christian schools throughout France.

But what he’s actually done is transform the structure and system of education across four centuries all over the world, a legacy for which he was proclaimed Patron Saint of Teachers.
Achievement is not about who you are nor where you came from.

In Benilde, it is about achieving extraordinary feats in your everyday tasks.

St. Benilde Romançon grew up in the plains of Thuret, France as an ordinary farm boy. He taught people of all ages and from all walks of life. But most of all he loved teaching children—a love that kept him in the classroom for 40 years. Pope Pius XI described St. Benilde’s influence saying, “Sanctity does not consist in doing extraordinary things, but in doing ordinary things extraordinarily well.”
Benilde’s innovation is fueled by the diversity of our students.

What our learners taught us is that traditional education is not for everyone.

Benilde traces its origin to the Career Development Program (CDP) of De La Salle University. Under the leadership of Br. Andrew Gonzalez FSC, the CDP night school for working students was opened in 1988. Over the years, Benilde has established itself at the forefront of innovative educational institutions, serving students with diverse backgrounds and talents.
“It is in the DNA of Benilde to think outside the box. In the sphere of relevant and creative educational programs, our role is to write what is yet to be written.

The purpose of Benildean-Lasallian education is to build a just and humane society. We want to provide the best and most advanced education possible, one that is cutting-edge and trailblazing.”

Br. Dennis Magbanua FSC
President
Three hundred years since St. La Salle taught his first student in France, his philosophy of education now extends far beyond his first classroom.

Today, the La Salle Worldwide Network spans 1,500 institutions in 82 countries. This global Lasallian family, unified by a commitment to the Lasallian Mission, nurtures a connection that transcends gender, culture, age, and class.

De La Salle Philippines (DLSP) unites 16 schools as one family to create a greater impact on the improvement of Philippine education.

Our community is dedicated to serve the poor and provide human and Catholic education to the least, the last, and the lost.
When Benilde moved to its own campus on the other side of Taft Avenue in 1989, it meant more than College expansion. Benilde extended its reach to a greater number of non-traditional learners.

The Taft Campus houses computer laboratories equipped with the latest software and a high-speed Internet facility to support the academic requirements of Management, Information Technology, Multidisciplinary Studies, and Deaf Education students. Laboratories and studios are designed to stimulate learners to think, discover, and create.
Step inside the Angelo King International Center (AKIC) and enter the real world of the hospitality industry.

The College runs industry standard kitchen laboratories and SHRIM hatcheries—Hotel Benilde, Vatel Restaurant, Solomon Guest House, Green Cuisine, Andrew Café and Chef Station—which are training grounds for students to apply what they learn in an actual work environment.
Styled in irregular geometrics, every nook and turn of the School of Design and Arts (SDA) is designed to challenge your creativity.

The SDA Campus is one big gallery with hallways that can be converted to exhibition spaces at any given time. It has a museum, theater, black box performance space, cinema, amphitheater, and studios which serve as production and collaboration venues for Benildean students.
A spark is all you need to begin a blaze.

The six Schools of Benilde light up your capabilities and turn them into expertise.

School of Deaf Education and Applied Studies
School of Design and Arts
School of Hotel, Restaurant and Institution Management
School of Management and Information Technology
School of Multidisciplinary Studies
School of Professional and Continuing Education
General education is the load-bearing column that supports the weight of specialization.

A well-rounded intellectual makes for an impassioned doer. Benilde’s foundation subjects make you a better communicator, thinker and specialist in your field.
Teachers tell you why, but mentors also show you how.

With industry practitioners as mentors, you learn from professionals who share their expertise on the tools of the trade and who bring their insider’s perspective into the Benildean classroom.
The most effective way to impart an idea is through experience, not through explanation.

Lasting lessons are the ones that can’t be transferred with words. In Benilde, students are taught not only theory and history, but the nuts and bolts of their fields.
Be original. March to the beat of your own drum.

Your unique tune will blend with a campus life that pulses with the rhythm of creativity and innovation.

In Benilde, you can live life at full volume.
Benildean faculty and personnel understand that their work is not laying bricks but building a cathedral.

Education is a collaborative effort of teachers, administrators, and personnel committed to cultivating a culture and climate conducive to lifelong learning and character formation.
Benildeans are spread across three separate campuses, but we live in one virtual zone.

This common ground nurtures our sense of community and serves as a venue for dialogue and exchange of ideas among Benildeans.
At Br. Fidelis Leddy Learning Resource Center (LRC), books are not the only sources of information.

While our print materials are extensive and up-to-date, our audio-visual collection, digital archive, and electronic databases cater to inquisitive minds seeking information and inspiration.
Leave the now when you enter the Museum of Contemporary Art and Design.

MCAD’s contemporary art exhibitions and education programs spark scholarly discussions and creative explorations. Apart from hosting works of local and international artists such as Lani Maestro, Tiffany Chung, Michael Lee, Diokno Pasilan, Sandra Palomar, and Alfredo Aquilizan, MCAD collaborates with international curators and institutions.
Centuries ago, St. Benilde learned sign language to teach one Deaf student.

Today, Benilde advances multiple ways in which the Deaf and Hearing can learn from one another, inspire each other, and grow together.

Through the Saint Brother Jaime Hilario Institute, Benilde empowers Persons with Disabilities (PWD) by providing computer applications training and employment assistance.
Scholars in Benilde inspire present and future generations of learners.

Benilde makes Lasallian education more accessible to the youth through a variety of scholarships, grants and financial assistance programs.
You are surrounded by a constellation of organizations and institutions that will shape your future.

Benilde is committed to establishing institutional relationships with diverse local, regional and global affiliates. These partnerships cultivate transformative experiences to help you achieve your professional and life goals.
Our alumni lead the pack in their chosen fields.

As graduates of innovative and specialized courses, Benildean alumni revitalize established businesses and steer emerging industries.
You should be here.
Formless ideas are insignificant until they are shaped into art, crafted into tools, or designed as solutions. That is why our Schools challenge students to create, build, and do.
We celebrate a unique culture and way of learning.
Birds defy gravity.
Our School of Deaf Education and Applied Studies (SDEAS) is a leader in learner-centered Deaf education.

SDEAS champions Filipino Deaf identity and culture through its academic offerings, formation programs and by forging partnerships between the Hearing and Deaf community.
Can you inspire change?

In Applied Deaf Studies, Deaf individuals are trained to become competent leader-advocates for the Filipino Deaf community and in the workplace.

The Deaf Studies program allows you to have an in-depth understanding of the Deaf community, language, identity, and culture. Part of the program is to gain practical skills in the areas of Computer graphics or Entrepreneurship.

Upon graduation, you can be employed as a multimedia specialist, graphic and layout artist, web developer, data analyst, finance and administrative associate or hotel and restaurant service associate. You can also become a Deaf leader, teacher or community worker.
Our Deaf Learners’ Preparatory Course (DLPC) is a two-trimester evaluative program which measures your readiness for college before you advance to the Applied Deaf Studies program. DLPC holds remedial and enrichment activities in four areas of study: Faith Formation, Personal Development, Filipino Sign Language, and Mathematics.
Our Filipino Sign Language Learning Program (FSLLP) is a certificate course open to all Deaf and Hearing individuals from Benilde and the general public who want to communicate using sign language. FSL classes are handled by Deaf instructors who integrate visual-gestural strategies with community interaction, allowing you to experience first-hand the Deaf's language and culture.
We build bridges to forge partnerships.

We reach out to individuals and companies that believe in the ability of the Deaf. Through the Center for Partnership and Development, we can work with you in the areas of internship, business opportunities, employment, training, Deaf advocacy, and resource generation.
We uplift the spirit of volunteerism and inspire others through service.

Benildean Deaf students share their time and talents to support outreach programs of the College and organizations including Habitat for Humanity, Hands on Manila, and Stairway Foundation, among others.
We raise our fists not to fight but to promote equality and diversity.

We work with organizations and communities to strive for equal recognition and realization of the rights of all people including Persons With Disabilities so that full human potential is attained. We create opportunities for change through dialogues and collaborations.
We hold close to our hearts the aspirations of the Deaf for holistic development.

Our Deaf students’ academic experience is complemented with programs in personal development, faith formation, leadership training, volunteerism, and self-expression.
We don’t teach creativity. We won’t instill talent. You already have those in you. What we only need to do is light you up.
To the inventive, unicorns can be real.
The School of Design and Arts (SDA) offers a wide scope of degree programs in specialized creative disciplines that meet the demands of today’s information-driven world.

Its campus, a 14-storey academic complex, is one big playground for creative minds and a venue that stimulates students to think out of the box, shift perspectives, and innovate ideas.
As prerequisite to their major design subjects, students undergo art exposure and exploration with accomplished artists and scholars of the Design Foundation program.

Hands on, unconventional approaches to meaningful projects allow young creatives to enhance their visual vocabulary, conceptualization and creation skills to prepare them for their major subjects.
How do you tell stories through art and technology?

In Animation, we merge the latest digital technology with limitless imagination and compelling storytelling. At your disposal are industry-level technology, systems, and software, but stretch the boundaries of your creativity and you have something more powerful in your hands: a world brought to life with visual elegance and narrative brilliance.
Animahenasyon celebrates the Philippine animation industry by showcasing original works of student and professional animators.

Since the first Animahenasyon in 2007, Benilde has been participating and winning in the competition.

In 2012, Animation alumnus Niko Salazar bagged the Animahenasyon Grand Prize for Marianing, a story of a mysterious man avenging his wife murdered by an aswang. Marianing also won the Best Animated Short 6-20 Minutes (Student Division) and HeroTV’s Choice Award.
For Frère, Benildean animators and industry professionals worked together as one community of storytellers breathing life to imagination.

Frère is the first animated film on the life and legacy of St. John Baptist de La Salle. It is imagined and created by ToonBro Animation, a collaboration platform wherein animation professionals bring their industry training into the Benildean classroom so that students learn the ways of the industry.
Is architecture the soul of a civilization?

Architecture draws from historical and environmental knowledge and awareness, critical thinking, artistic vision and skillful appreciation of Building Technology & Construction Techniques, to build infrastructure for human interaction and cultural expression. As you explore fundamental issues in contemporary architecture, you are challenged to design spaces for targeted purposes using inventive and sustainable design solutions, respecting Architectural Heritage.
How do you make art happen?

In Arts Management, while you become proficient in art history, theory and criticism, you also learn the systems and technologies of institutions and businesses that run on creativity, art, and design. As an arts manager, you will be in a position to create the conditions, spaces and interfaces in which art and cultural activity can happen and be sustained.
Do you dream with your feet?

In Benilde, students experience the creative process and disciplined training of dance while developing an awareness of its historical and cultural aspects. Technique classes in Dance are offered alongside theoretical studies in dance history, criticism, and teaching methodologies. These courses deepen the artist’s appreciation for how his/her craft is a powerful form of expression that can enrich a culture and transform a society.

Who would play you in a movie on your life?

Our Digital Filmmaking program combines motion picture production techniques with digital technology to create the cinema of the future. In the process, we produce versatile graduates immersed in all elements of filmmaking: directing, producing, screenwriting, editing, sound mixing, cinematography, and production design.

Can you fashion the future?

Creative. Collaborative. Responsive to market demands. These are what the global fashion industry demands of its “design-thinkers.” Committed to innovation, the Fashion Design and Merchandising program offers a nurturing environment where young minds are enriched through in-campus and off-campus learning experiences. Its forward-thinking curriculum marries the traditional with the state-of-the-art, giving fashion students more freedom to explore and experiment with design and merchandising ideas.
When did art and technology fall in love?

The first of its kind in the country, our Multimedia Arts program prepares a new generation of storytellers to have a flair for the visual language and ability to enhance the communication experience. It combines core skills in the communication, interface design, and programming for various user-driven applications such as digital and print media, web content and design, mobile content, interactive games and content, and exhibit installations.
Can music still soothe a savage beast?

To create music is to speak a universal language. Our student-musicians manifest their fluency in this language by having a strong command of music theory and composition to complement their technical skills in sound recording and processing.

Our Music Production program reflects the diversity of musical experience—mixing sounds, composing songs, producing musical performances—to ensure that your learning remains relevant in the music business.

How can you best capture life in a frame?

What distinguishes a Benildean photographer is his/her ability to astonish an audience with new perspectives, angles, and interpretations. In Photography, our students’ goals are to have an intuitive mastery of light, a deep grounding in technique, and a genuine connection with the subject.
How can you make something the world didn’t know it was missing?

In Industrial Design you innovate solutions to optimize the function and value of a product for the benefit of its users. These solutions, while they are functional, sustainable, and aesthetically appealing, ultimately enhance the quality of life and culture of people. Our program is a quest to integrate design philosophies with technology to meet the demands of the modern consumer.
How can design shape the way we live?

Interior Design explores spaces where people live, work, and play. Behind every complementing shape, light, color, and surface is a meticulous Benildean designer who makes interiors useful and delightful to those who inhabit them.
How can you tell a story without words?

Production designers do more than just create sets. They build worlds, revive eras, and conceive characters. In Production Design, students learn about theater and film design, art history, and media studies as they dabble in stagecraft, prosthetics, and costume construction.
How do you personify brilliance?

It takes a diamond to cut another diamond. That is why our Theater Arts program promises a dazzling cast of actors, directors, producers, and designers as professors and mentors.

You don’t always need to be at centerstage to experience the most intense and immense environments of the performing arts. As a student and apprentice, you will be exposed to all facets of performance and stage craft even as you specialize in one of two tracks: Acting or Production. In the long run, all the world’s a stage and in Benilde you get to play many extraordinary parts.
Annuale, a degree exhibition held every term, is not just a collection of our students’ best works. It is a catalog of the times, a calendar of creative images, and a platform for dialogue.
SDA houses exhibition spaces and studio facilities which enhance students’ hands-on experience.

Standing out with its cantilevered façade, the SDA Theater has the latest lighting and sound equipment for performances and productions. The Black Box is a studio which provides a setting ideal for experimental shows and theater productions. The Green Room allows students to later superimpose shot images over different backgrounds. The SDA Cinema is a site for cultural immersion and classroom instruction where Digital Filmmaking students showcase and present their works for review.
Just as salt and pepper are the fundamentals of flavor, theory and practice are the foundations of our discipline.
Stars set the standard.
The School of Hotel, Restaurant and Institution Management (SHRIM) primes future hoteliers, restaurateurs, and managers for the rigors and precision of the hospitality industry.

SHRIM adheres to the philosophy that superior education culminates in practice. Its campus, the Angelo King International Center (AKIC), houses industry standard kitchen laboratories where students apply what they learn through hands-on experience.
The Hotel, Restaurant and Institution Management program integrates theory and practice to provide you with a strong service orientation and a global perspective of hotel and restaurant operations. Students specialize in any of the three tracks: Culinary Arts, Hospitality Management, and Tourism Management.
What you can sink your teeth into.

The Culinary Arts track equips you with the fundamentals of food preparation and food service. It sharpens your management and critical thinking skills for you to become chefs, managers, and leaders in the industry.
How you can be superb.

The Hospitality Management track teaches you the essential principles of managing hotels, restaurants, and catering companies. In the process, you oversee diverse functions of the business, from accounting and finance to marketing and human resources.
Where you can go next.

The Travel and Tourism Management track grooms you for a successful career in the fields of travel, recreation, sports leisure management, lodging, and food service. You learn the cultural and personal inclinations and expectations of travelers in order to facilitate the most fulfilling journeys and experiences.
Why you must go the distance.

For students of International Hospitality Management, one degree is not enough. They earn Philippine and French bachelor's degrees and benefit from Vatel International Business School's worldwide network of schools recognized for international programs in business, hotel and tourism management.

Virtuoso performances are borne from constant practice and in the service industries every customer engagement is a performance.

Behind the red curtain, in our classrooms, laboratories and hatcheries, our students perfect the art and science of hospitality by rehearsing the preeminent techniques of their trades and setting the highest standards of their fields.
Benildeans are a mixture of premium ingredients fired in precise temperatures, a product of the perfect chemistry of theory and practice.

Our students are adept players in the hospitality industry because they are equipped with a strong academic foundation while trained to take on the challenges of the working world.
In the hotel and restaurant business where competition is not only in talent and skill but also in endurance, a millimeter can make a mile of a difference.

Consistent attention to detail and precision in execution distinguish the pros from the amateurs, the Benildean from everybody else.
The fields of hotel, restaurant, and travel are in the business of creating experiences.

Benildean SHRIM students elevate the standard by being in the business of making memories.
To our students, tourism is not a series of intermittent departures and arrivals but a symphony of life-changing experiences.

The activity is to tour, but the goal is for clients to come home with a new song in their heads and a memory of the perfect view.
Benildean International Hospitality Management students proudly wear the signature V of Vatel, a worldwide network of schools recognized for international programs in business, hotel and tourism management.

Through Benilde’s partnership with Vatel International Business School, students secure internships and employment in reputable hotel chains all over the world.
Your next destination is a Master’s Degree.
Benilde raises the bar once again with its first-ever master’s degree offering.

The Master of Science in Tourism and Hospitality Management program has three tracks of specialization: Culinary Management, Tourism Management, and Hospitality Management.
MSTHM trains hospitality professionals to become sharp and critical decision-makers, who have strong foundations in the business and science of hospitality and strategic development competencies in food products, travel, and service industries.
We define leadership.
Big cats run the show.
Our School of Management and Information Technology (SMIT) is home to future business leaders fluent in the language of new technologies.

SMIT offers degree programs that are responsive to the challenges of today’s knowledge and technology-based industries.
Leaders are captains.

As technology steers our way of life in the Digital Age, there are those who navigate industries through Information Technology. In Computer Applications, you become proficient in business-solving methods and management techniques while you gain training in constructing and implementing organization-specific IT systems to streamline business operations and boost productivity.
Leaders are global.

Unique products are local; dominant markets are global. As an Export Management student, you keep an eye on up-and-coming products while tracking trends and movements in the global economy. This program is the pioneer export-oriented business course in the country and it merges the essentials of the export industry, namely product development, manufacturing, marketing and distribution, with entrepreneurship and new strategies and technologies in international trading.
Leaders are champions.

Our Human Resource Management program integrates business management and industrial psychology, giving you a comprehensive understanding of how to enable personnel, enrich company-employee relationships, and enhance work environments to pursue organizational objectives. While you get down to the basics of workforce development covering recruitment, training and compensation, you also cultivate a visionary instinct and aptitude for transforming human resource as a crucial component of the strategic development and success of companies.
Leaders are agile.

Through our Information Systems program, you acquire an in-depth understanding of how information and technology-enabled business processes increase the overall performance and responsiveness of organizations. With your technical knowledge in computers, software and mobile communications, you have the ability to analyze, design, and engineer information system solutions for business, academe, and government.
Information Systems students Jason Josol, Mark Bautista and Camille Domingo of Team Divided by Zero won first place in the Microsoft Philippines Imagine Cup competition, and represented the Philippines in the Imagine Cup 2012 World Finals in Sydney, Australia. Their innovation, KidCamp, is a web and mobile application that allows teachers of students with autism to tailor fit their educational programs according to the learners' needs, abilities, and pace.

Leaders are adventurous.

What’s more thrilling than playing video games is braving an infinite universe to create them. Our Interactive Entertainment and Multimedia Computing program is a hybrid discipline which combines the technical, art, and business aspects of gaming. As you build your portfolio of games ranging from small interactive mobile applications to complex PC- and console-based systems, you are also trained on how to run and manage a game development studio. As a student, you can enter one of two majors: Game Development or Game Art.
Leaders are strategists.

The Real Estate Management degree program is for those who want to practice or offer professional advice in brokerage, management and development of the real estate lands, properties, and projects. It incorporates the concepts of business management and green building technology to prepare students to be proactive and responsive to the environment.
Leaders are finishers.

There are no immovable mountains for the determined learner. Our Career Development Program (CDP) gives working students a chance to complete their college education and advance their careers in business management or marketing management.

In Business Management*, our students learn to integrate operations, marketing, finance, human resource management, strategic management and corporate social responsibility making them versatile professionals in any industry. The degree promotes critical thinking and practical application of business concepts through simulations, cases, and discussions.

*Business Management and Marketing Management are night programs offered only to working students.
Students under the Marketing Management* program learn to read the mind of the market, predict its tendencies and influence its impulses. The course offers a 360-degree view of business administration from product management, research, sales, to product distribution. Ultimately, students become versatile in this industry as course activities cover consumer behavior, advertising, international and digital marketing, and financial concepts.

*Business Management and Marketing Management are night programs offered only to working students.
We lay the foundations of servant-leaders.
Our graduates are future guardians and movers of the world.
Our School of Multidisciplinary Studies (SMS) offers Bachelor of Arts major in Consular and Diplomatic Affairs for learners drawn to politics, governance and international relations.

SMS oversees the general education subjects of Benildean students as part of the College's goal of forming well-rounded individuals.
Diplomacy shapes how the world is connected.

In Consular and Diplomatic Affairs, our students examine the interrelations of states, cultures, languages, politics and economies to gain a comprehensive understanding of global affairs. Your multidisciplinary education in social sciences, languages, and humanities primes you to have a mindset for dialogue and to have a sensibility for diverging perspectives.

Our program trains students to become professionals in international relations whose career paths lead to consular and diplomatic posts, and jobs in rights-based public and civil society organizations.
You are future servant-leaders.

We educate young men and women to be ambassadors of common good, human rights, justice and peace. In this increasingly borderless world, your responsibility is to think globally, act locally, and to promote solidarity among the community of nations.
Benildeans take their place in the arena of engagement.

The process of engagement is dialogue and not debate. Our students learn to dialogue with other young minds at international conventions where they tackle the intricacies of diplomacy, development and governance. Benildeans participate and consistently gain recognition in International Model United Nations (MUN) conferences held in China, Czech Republic, France, Germany, Switzerland, South Korea and the United States of America.
Learning never ends.
Pyramids are a testament to what humankind can do.
For students of the School of Professional and Continuing Education (SPaCE), learning is a lifelong pursuit.

SPaCE provides professionals with tools and skills necessary to advance their careers and increase their competitive advantage in their respective professions.
Behind every stroke of genius is a lifelong learner.

SPaCE also offers certificate courses in Multimedia Arts (Basic Digital Photography, Basic Web Design, Digital Video Editing, Special Effects for Video, 3D Modelling and Animation [3DS Max], Digital Editing Imaging), Basic and Advanced Painting.

Benildeans work and play in an environment where uniqueness is appreciated, talents are nurtured, and ideas are valued.
Every member of the Benildean Community is vital to producing extraordinary learning experiences.
Benildean formators shape unique learners into extraordinary professionals working in established and emerging industries.
Benilde executes rigorous protective measures for the Community by ensuring that all aspects of security and safety are covered.

As a security precaution, 142 security professionals employed by the Center for Emergency Management, Safety and Security (CEMSS) monitor College activities and patrol campus facilities. For safety awareness and to mitigate risks in crisis situations, CEMSS conducts earthquake and fire drills and implements disaster contingency protocols.
Benilde, a member of Task Force Safe School, works with De La Salle University, St. Scholastica's College, and the Western Police District to safeguard the vicinity of the three schools.
Our team of doctors and nurses is on call for any emergency situation and engages Benildeans by conducting health awareness seminars and information drives on illness prevention and first aid response.
Students can avail of free health consultations and over-the-counter medicines at any of the three clinics in Benilde.
Learning is as much an internal transformation as it is an intellectual pursuit.

Students undergo different consultations and seminars initiated by the Center for Counseling Services (CCS) to improve time and stress management skills, develop effective study habits, enhance self-awareness, and strengthen decision-making capabilities.

Through prayer sessions, spiritual counseling, retreats, and recollections organized by the Center for Lasallian Ministry (CLM), students grow in their own faith and gain a deeper understanding of the beliefs of others.
Benilde welcomes students from all religious traditions and encourages interfaith dialogue and interaction through prayer, worship, and meditation.
Benildean learners thrive in an academic setting where facilities and equipment are constantly upgraded while grounds and buildings are regularly maintained.

Round-the-clock assistance of over a hundred housekeeping personnel ensures that sanitary conditions of campus infrastructure are at par with international health and safety standards. A host of support services including construction improvements and property preventive maintenance is carried out by the General Administrative Services Department (GASD).
Technology enhances the learning experience of every Benildean.

The Information Technology Department (ITD), through its latest computer hardware and software, supports the academic pursuits of students. The Br. Fidelis Leddy Learning Resource Center’s (LRC) vast information network, including online databases and ebook collections, is also accessible for scholarly research and creative exploration.
LRC also serves as a collaborative space where Benildeans share ideas, engage in dialogue, and learn from one another.
New worlds unfold every time we explore.

The Br. Fidelis Leddy Learning Resource Center (LRC) houses an array of multimedia materials for curious and creative minds.

- 5,637 DVDs
- 167,872 Book titles
- 3,343,714 E-books
- 8,028 CD-ROM titles
- 3,287 Audio CDs
- 98,637 Electronic journals and online databases
- + 1,000,000 Electronic dissertations and theses
- 140 LDs
Your stay in Benilde can be more meaningful and memorable through volunteering activities, student organizations, and cultural celebrations. Such opportunities shape Benildeans’ understanding of themselves and the world that extends beyond the classroom. The Department of Student Life (DSL) works with the College’s various units to hone students who are deeply rooted in faith, appreciative of individual worth, nationalistic, creative, professionally competent, and socially responsible.
Social responsibility is the mark of a true Benildean-Lasallian.

Students are constantly given opportunities to lead, serve, and grow through community immersions, leadership trainings, relief drive operations, and volunteering efforts organized by the Center for Social Action (CSA).

A clenched fist represents the letter A in Filipino Sign Language. For Benildeans, A stands for animo, alumni, and alma mater.
Benildean education enriches not only the mind but the heart and soul, too.

The Academic Extension Program (AEP) supports values formation and character development of Benildean learners. Students take a proactive stance in civic and public affairs and engage in activities that contribute to the betterment of the lives of our fellow citizens.

Students also develop career navigation skills and techniques, get assistance in finding internship and job opportunities, and benefit from the College’s network of industry partners and affiliate organizations through programs and projects of the Career and Placement Office (CPO).
WORK WONDERS
You dream, that’s why you create, build, do.

Vito Cruz station is more than a train stop.

You couldn’t tell what dreams may come.

People are flitting, fleeting.
It's never the same cast of characters.

Whoever greets you at the gates begins the story.

You have access to different beginnings and endings.

But the story is always about you.
However, there are innumerable yous...

...pursuing one quest: the next big idea.
People give you directions.

But really there are no maps.

So you find your way...

...while dancing...

...with songs in your head...
...through celebrations...

...as other stories are told.

Sometimes you must set out on sidequests...
...or fight dragons.

But there is only one theme.
In a place like this, you can tell who’s on your side...

My guarding ability is directly proportional to my cuteness.

...and who’s always got your back.

I will continue, O my God, to do all my actions for the love of You.
There are many ways to move a story along...

...as you imagine what’s going on inside other heroes’ heads.
Still, you’ll do it your own way.
This particular quest ends here.

But there will be other missions.

It's time to WORK WONDERS.
